Reflection:

Was it hard, easy?

This activity was okay, not too easy but somewhat challenging still. I'm glad the position of the features on Mr. Potato were preset and that I didn't have to manually figure that out, but I still had to review a bit regarding Php in order to get the potato state to get saved.

What was the most challenging part of the activity?

The most challenging part was figuring out how to save the results and the cookies, as that was new to me. Thankfully, I was able to utilize what I had learned from the lesson to finally get it to work.

What are the key concepts/skills that you learned from this activity?

I learned how cookies are utilized in many websites simply to save information that is input, and that it can't be used to steal data or spy on you. Before that lecture, I honestly had no clue what they were, but I'm glad I got to learn.
